

Human Fussball

Make a human edition of a fussball-game – it takes very good collaboration

- Plan time and place – e.g. on the soccer field or in the courtyard. Remember a ball and a goal (or something the indicate where the goal is)
- Divide the class randomly into two teams
- Every team has to make a row by holding each other's hands. You may divide into two rows to have both attack and defense
- The rows cannot be broken, and there is no goalkeeper
- Start the game and let the final score decide which team is best at human fussball
